Dear Corporate Partners:

The National Association of Black Accountants, Inc. (NABA) will hold its annual convention in Detroit, Michigan, June 14-18, 2005, at the Detroit Marriott Renaissance Center. Enclosed, you will find our Corporate Participation Prospectus, which contains pertinent information regarding the convention. To ensure your company's optimum exposure and inclusion in convention events, early planning is essential.

NABA is a membership organization that represents the interest of over 100,000 African Americans, (5,000 of whom are CPAs) participating in the fields of accounting, auditing, business, consulting, and information technology. By partnering with NABA, your company has exposure to this group of affluent and influential professionals who range from entry to senior levels. Our NABA Diversity Expo offers your organization a unique chance to meet qualified employment candidates as well as to exhibit their products and services.

On behalf of the NABA family, we invite your company to join us in Detroit. Pages 5 - 6 of the prospectus outlines the various packages available. If you have questions regarding corporate participation, please contact myself or Muriel A. Evans, Director, Development and Corporate Relations at (301) 474-6222.

NABA is proud of the partnerships we have formed with our corporate stakeholders and look forward to establishing new ones. Here's to a greater investment in our partnerships and to exponential returns on those investments!

Sincerely,

Darryl R. Matthews, Sr.
Executive Director and COO
